PARK HYATT SAIGON
STORY

Park Hyatt Saigon is a French Mansion by the Opera House, a sanctuary of peace in the middle of one of Asia’s most bustling cities. Despite first opening its doors to guests in 2005, Park Hyatt Saigon history dates back to 1950 when it was first built as The Brink Hotel, where the US military Generals and Officers stayed during the Vietnam war. Among its best-known guests was Adrian Cronauer, a popular radio DJ for the US military, made famous by the movie ‘Good Morning Vietnam!’. His daily radio transmissions were also broadcasted from this very site.

MEET OUR ASSISTANT
DIRECTOR OF ROOMS –TIMOTHY HUNT

For those who pay frequent visits to our mansion, it’s not unusual to be familiar with our energetic Assistant Director of Rooms – Timothy Hunt, who oversees the Rooms division, its operations and guest satisfaction in general at Park Hyatt Saigon.

Timothy graduated from Blue Mountains Hotel School at Torrens University with a master’s degree, majoring in Global Business. He first started his career at Hyatt as senior butler at Park Hyatt Sydney in 2010 where he rose through the ranks. He then transferred to Grand Hyatt Hong Kong where he held the position of front office manager since 2016.

“My aim at Park Hyatt Saigon is to continue living within our Hyatt World by sharing my experience, supporting my colleagues and developing knowledge and skills from those whom surround me. I hope to elevate our guest (and colleague experience) by offering an approach defined by care and love.”

How would you describe yourself?

Energetic, organised and driven by achievement.

How do you spend your spare time?

You will often see me out and about with friends in restaurants, cafes and street stalls in search of the best foods, delicacies and wines!

What do few people know about you?

I grew up in a very small country town in Australia. We raised livestock and grew crops – so, I can shear a sheep from start to finish.
