VIETNAM ALL STARS

World renowned as the epicenter of the culinary fare, France charms all with her ability to transform cuisine to art, to tradition and to diversity. As is expected, this celebrated region will be the next pin on our grand culinary series: Vietnam All Stars.

This April, be among the very few to experience the essence of French cuisine, coming to life under the spell of our host – Chef Adrien Guenzi of Square One's French kitchen and his guest chefs.

THE HOST - Square One chef de cuisine of French kitchen Adrien Guenzi:

With a rich portfolio of knowledge and experience gained from working with the world's top Michelin chefs, Adrien is now chef de cuisine, running Square One - French Kitchen and bringing the world of French gastronomy to diners' tables. Throughout his journey, he has worked with various great chefs; in particular, Mr Emmanuel Renault, a French three-star Michelin chef, and the world-renowned best chef, Mr Pierre Gagnaire, both of whom sharpened Adrien's passion for food and influenced his culinary style.

THE FRENCH CHAPTER

1st installment: Adrien x Chef Thao Bui (Lavelle Library)

From 6:30 PM | Friday, 9 April

Bui's culinary journey combines both her Vietnamese heritage and her Parisian adventures, where she resided for 11 years. During that time, she obtained her associate's degree of French cuisine and tenured at Park Hyatt Paris Vendôme for five years. With the vision to bring a cozy new French dining experience to Ho Chi Minh City, Bui decided to return to Vietnam in 2014 and is now chef de cuisine of Lavelle Library, a lifestyle, social and dining space that brings together people, art and nature. Bui's craft is described as sincere, humble and beautiful, where quality ingredients are combined with welcoming French flavours.

From 6:30 PM | Friday, 16 April

Sakal Phoeung is a French Executive Chef with over 25 years of experience in luxury hotels and several upscale restaurants. His cuisine reflects a unique blend of creative flair and passion for food while his interpersonal skills make him one of the most beloved chefs in Ho Chi Minh City. Now owner and chef of his own restaurant (P'ti Saigon), Sakal keeps on sharing his knowledge and passion consulting on culinary projects. During his career, Sakal has cooked for several state visits with the latest one being a dinner at his own restaurant for French President François Hollande.

Joined the kitchen of the legendary chef Paul Bocuse, one of the first French chefs to travel to Japan, Asia and America to show the people French cuisine. At age 19, Olivier worked at some of the best Michelin restaurants in the region.
