SUSTAINABILITY MAP

SQUARE ONE IS COMMITTED TO SOURCE THE HIGHEST QUALITY INGREDIENTS FROM RESPONSIBLE LOCAL FARMERS TO SUPPORT A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE.

SOFT SHELL CRAB

This Mekong Delta province is the southernmost part of Vietnam's inland territory. Its rivers and canals are surrounded by a dense vegetation of Cajuput trees which make the perfect natural habitat to farm sustainable Cà Mau soft shell crab. Try this mouthwatering crispy delicacy with our homemade tamarind sauce.

FISH SAUCE

“NƯỚC MẮM NHĨ”

When it comes to Vietnamese cuisine, there's no escaping fish sauce. Used in countless dishes throughout all parts of the country, Phú Quốc Island holds the throne for its premium quality. This fish sauce only uses locally sourced anchovies known as “Cá Cơm” and salt, no added water, color or MSG. A tradition dating back over 200 years!

OYSTERS

This coastal resort city in south-east Vietnam is not only known for its beaches, crabs, and clams, but is also famous for its succulent oysters. Nha Trang oysters have a high nutrient content, a tasty meat and they are used as specialties in numerous restaurants. Don't miss “Chợ Đêm” the night seafood market if you visit the area!

BLACK GROUPE

This deep-sea fish has a unique and mild taste. The black grouper is caught at least 100 miles off shore, at such depths that the fish are constantly in motion, resulting in a firmer and flaky texture when cooked. The black groupers diet of shellfish creates a wonderfully distinctive flavor that is unique to this species. Black grouper is available live from our fish tank, ready for you to enjoy.

RIVER PRAWNS

Besides being Vietnam's capital of coconut, the local residents of this peaceful town, are famous for farming the highest quality river prawns. These delicious prawns have a rich taste, which is perfectly paired with the luscious caramelized coconut sauce.
